

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided a neighbor cell notifying apparatus capable of implementing more efficient notification to a mobile station within a range that can be notified of and monitored, when the mobile station in communication using a plurality of cells is notified of neighbor cell information. This neighbor cell notifying apparatus includes a cell information extracting part for extracting neighbor cell information items for specifying respective neighbor cells corresponding to each of the cells; a cell rank determining part for, based on the neighbor cell information items extracted, determining ranks of neighbor cell information items that the mobile station is to be notified of, in favor of neighbor cell information items about neighbor cells common to the cells; and a cell information notifying part for notifying the mobile station of a predetermined number of neighbor cell information items among the neighbor cell information items on the basis of the ranks determined.